MILITARY REGULATIONS RULE

The Cadets-Many Visitors at the Camp-Address by Mr. Brittingham on Sunday,

Folmer's place, up Big Wheeling creek, has assumed quite a military as-The approach to the grounds is guarded by a cadet with bayonet and rifle. All strangers are challenged and no cadet can leave the enclosure without the countersign and a pass regularly signed by the officer of the day and the commandant.

Passing the sentinel, the characteris-tic bustle of military life is at once manifest. The nine white tents, the the report of muskets, the call of the bugle and the commands of the officers assure the visitor that the boys are having a practical lesson in all the details necessary for a modern military camp. A cadet in attendance is ever ready to conduct visitors about the camp and to point out the chieCplaces of interest. The officers have established their headquarters in the first tent. Here, with Lieutenant Dent as judge court-martial is held every morning at 8, and happy the cadet whose record for the preceding day is clear, for the guard house looms up suspiciously in the dis-tance, and the guide relates in a whisper how certain cadets paid the penalty of their transgressions.

Seven tents are fitted with cots and used for sleeping purposes. The rain on Monday necessitated the digging of trenches, which was done in true military style. The floor of the tents remained dry, which proves that every precaution has been taken to render the spot healthful and pleasant. At night a camp-fire is built and around its embers gather the cadets to listen to the tales told by the coke, who was with the boys in '61, and who with befitting dignity and a realization of his important station, relates to the coming soldiers the heroic exploits of the soldiers of the past. No camp-fire would be complete without the accompanying songs, and for quite a distance be heard the youthful voices uniting in war songs and popular airs. promised not to tell how the inspiring strains of "Home, Sweet Home" caused the smaller cadets to return to their tents with eyes suspiciously red, but they affirm that "It was caused by the heat;" some see no harm in making the

The boys are happy and their bright sun-burned faces, speak volumes for the care and attention received at the hands of Lleutenant Dent, who seems never to sleep, nor to forget the responsibility of having in charge over a haif hundred lively boys.

Camp Notes.

So far eight cadets have spent a portion of their time in the guard-house. Prof. Hill tried his skill as a marks man yesterday afternoon, and succeeded in scoring 18.

The target is of the regulation size and the distance is 100 yards. The highest possible score is 25.

Next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Rev. Jacob Brittingham, of St. Luke's Episcopal church, will hold services on the grounds and will address the boys. The cadets making the highest scores at target practice yesterday, were as follows: George Hayes, 17; George Caldwell, 14; Joe Handlan, 18; Ivan Fawcett, 15; Harland Jones, 17. Among the visitors at the camp yesterday were Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Moffat, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Van Keuren, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. List, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Schubart, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Paull, Mr. and rs. Charles E. AMUSEMENTS.

"Hello Bill," the play which Manager Feinler announces for the Opera House next Monday and Tuesday, is one of the few examples of straight-away legitimate farce now before the American public. Its humor is spontaneous well-balanced and genuine, nor does it require the interpolation of double entendres to exploit its laughter provoking qualities. Although new here, the play has been seen in near all of the leading cities of the country, and in na instance has it failed to justify the claims of its author, or the primises of its manager. It is to the credit of the management of "Hello Bill" that their principal claim to public attention lies in the absolute purity of the play. From this it must not be inferred that its fun has been relegated to a back seat, but on the contrary, Manager Feinler, who has seen the play, is authority for the statement that no funnier or better play of its kind has ever been seen here

"The Man From Mexico."

By long odds, the master magnet of measureless mirth is "The Man From Mexico," a farce teeming with jest and joility. On its former presentation in this city it achieved a success second to none of the productions of its class during that season, and its coming return visit at the Opera House, Friday September 14, bespeaks a repetition of previous triumphs. Aside from its many other charming features, the play upon words indulged in during the second act by the guilty husband is an evening's entertainment in Itself. George C. Boniface, jr., plays the leading part, and will have the assistance of the following well known people: Gus Pixley, M., L. Heckert, F. W. Bernard, Robert Deshon, Arthur Villars, D. H. Landon, J. Trew Gray, D. W. Siegrist, Helen Baird, Agnes Burke, Mildred Keith and Adeline Mann,

The Ideals.

In spite of the Bryan meeting there was a fair-sized audience at the Grand Opera House last night to witness the production of "The Lost Paradiss" by the Ideals. It gave pleasure because of the magnificent mounting, the splendid work of the cast and the general excellence of the production. To-night the company will present for the first time the great New York melodramatic sensation, "The Pulse of Chinatown," with new specialities between acts.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 6.—The home team indulged in a batting matinee to-day and made everything in the hit line from a seratch bunt to a clean home run. Philadelphia was aided considerably in run-getting by some weird fielding on the part of Chicago. The visitors never had a look in, and after the second inning the game was threspectable. the game was tiresome and uninteresting Dolan played at third base, Wolverton being incapacitated by reason of injuries sustained while alighting last night from a trolley car. Another for Pittsburgh.

BROOKLYN, Sept. 6.—In the Brooklyn-Pittsburgh game to-day a muffed throw by Daly put Kennedy up in the air in the second inning, and four men were sent around the bases by wild pitching and a couple of hits. Kitson then went in and was batted hard. Pittsburgh played a superb fielding game behind Leever's good pitching and shut off the runs. Keeler made four hits, but all were wasted. The game was called in the eighth on account of darkness. Score:

St. Louis Was Never Headed.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.-The New York and St. Louis ball teams gave about the worst exhibition at the Polo grounds to day that has been seen there in some time. St. Louis took a lead at the start and was never headed. Sudhoff, their little pitcher, was a tough proposition for the New Yorks. Score:
